The main document consists of

- an image,

- meta data for that image,

- derived data for that image

- the preprocessings for that image.

- the classifications/ segmentations of that image.

- Sub documents for derived data, preprocessing, and classifications.

and can generate new documents of each sub-document type.